CHAPTER 1: Defining What Kind of Women You Are Looking For

You obviously bought this book for a reason. You need a woman. What kind of woman are you looking for exactly?

Are you looking for a woman just for sex?

Are you looking for a woman to settle down with? Possibly make your wife one day?

Are you looking just to date?

Are you looking for all of the above and what happens happens? This is many men's first choice when finding a woman and it is a great philosophy that always seems to work.

These are many questions you need to ask yourself when trying to find a woman. There are different types of women for each category you choose, so knowing EXACTLY what you want will greatly help your chances of finding your dream girl. Don't worry; this book is designed to find any woman you want online! It is just good to know which type of woman you are looking for and it is good to understand what kind of man THEY are looking for. If a woman just got over a bad relationship or just got a divorce, they may just want to casually date and are not looking for anything serious. Understanding the background of each woman will help you land them quickly, especially online.

CHAPTER 2: How to Find Women Online

As most of you know, finding women that are attracted to you and you are attracted to can be difficult, challenging, and time consuming.

Most of you guys have probably tried walking up to a girl at the club or bar, get diarrhea of the mouth, forget what to say and stutter, finally getting just shut down completely. Many guys have tried that to me and just let me tell you its VERY unattractive. Especially drunk guys with horrible beer breathe. I can't tell you how many times when a guy walked up to me in a club and tried to dance with me, only to find me going to the closest guy and acting like they were my long lost brother. The type of women you also meet in a bar or clubs are women most of the time looking to have sex, not have a long-term relationship. For some of you guys, that's all you want, but for others that are looking to settle down the bar or club really isn't the best idea. I highly suggest moving away from finding women at bars and at clubs. It will only work if you have SERIOUS game. Some of these women might be in a relationship, lesbian, or just having a bad day! Your chances of landing one are slim to none.

Well thanks to the Internet all your dating troubles will soon be over.

Let me explain...

Women are already registered to online dating sites when finding one online. They WANT MEN, they want SEX, they want to find the man of their DREAMS, and they even WANT to go on dates. They wouldn't PAY monthly for online dating sites if this were not the case.

Knowing this, you already have the upper hand because you KNOW these women are single and you KNOW what they are looking for.

There are TONS and TONS of women in your area looking for a guy just like YOU. You can see all of them in a click of a button, without spending hundreds of dollars on a blind date. It is extremely difficult for a guy to approach a woman in person, but online it is a different story. You aren't face to face, which makes it more approachable in finding women. You don't need to get alcohol in you and enough courage to approach women when finding them online. It is so easy and most women love attention and men hitting on us the RIGHT WAY.

Let me also tell you why online is so much better in person. If you approach a girl in the club or bar and get rejected...your friends may just laugh at you and it will put a huge damper on your confidence. At least you tried right? Well, even though you tried its human nature to hate rejection. Men hate rejection...they hate rejection bad. I even hate rejecting men, it makes me feel bad. I really try to be nice about it, usually saying I am married or have a boyfriend. It works well in letting them down easy, but some women aren't as nice as me. They just flat out tell them NO or to go away.

Well, if a woman rejects a guy online like I do, we just ignore them and do not respond. It may sound cruel, but it really isn't. For you guys, just got onto the next one and forget about the one that ignored you! If you message enough women online, one is bound to respond and say yes! Especially using the right strategies in this book...coming straight from a woman's point of view! I mean the women are COMING TO YOU most of the time online, in person that would never happen. If you have a great profile, the women will flock to you in a heartbeat. When women approach you, they are already seeing something they like, so YOU have the upper hand. It may be the words on your profile or your photo (if you choose to have one, we will talk about this later).

CHAPTER 3: Choosing the Right Places Online

This is really the most important step of them all. Finding the right website to find girls online is extremely important, and with all the dating and social networking sites out there this can be challenging finding one worth the money. Luckily for you, I have personally tested HUNDREDS of dating and social networking sites and came up with the best ones for you. Some of the sites I have tested become old, boring, and stale. On the other hand, some sites have thousands of new men and women that sign up daily, so finding one that suites you shouldn't be hard at all.

Should you try out the free dating sites? Well, there ARE free dating sites out there but they are total crap. Most of the time they are just trying to get you on board and offer you a huge membership fee to see more women's profiles and more added features. I suggest you stay away from fee dating sites and stick to trusted sources. Every site I review below is either a free social networking site or is actually worth the membership cost. I have spent days researching the amount of women, the membership price, easy navigation, reliability of the site, and customer service support. These are all the factors you need to look for when signing up for a dating site. Below are the top 5 dating sites we recommend:

Site #1- www.MySpace.com – Do I need to say anymore? The most popular social networking website alive today. Practically everyone has a Myspace profile – chances are you already have one. There's tons of spammers and fake profiles out there, so be sure not to fall into their traps.

Site #2- www.Match.com – Largest dating site out there today. Tons of girls that are actually looking to meet genuine guys. If I were you, I'd spend most of my time trying to find the girl of your dreams on this website. My users have reported GREAT success!

Site #3- www.Facebook.com – If you're still in school, then this site is a goldmine. There are tons of girls that are looking to talk all the time. Facebook Chat was just created and it makes it even easier to start random conversations. I've noticed the best way to stand out in Facebook is by creating a unique profile that shows your creativity and everything you're doing in your life currently.

Site #4- www.eHarmony.com – Another great one. Reasonable membership fee and a great place to meet all types of women. The best part of meeting girls on Match.com and eHarmony is the fact that the women on there are looking for dates and relationships. On places like Myspace and Facebook you never know if the girl is just looking for friends or actually is looking for a date.

Stay AWAY from:

Adult Friend Finder – This website is highly advertised online and is about 90% guys. They attract people in by saying you can meet girls in your area that are looking to hookup. Well guys, think about it – what girl is going to register on a website like this and put her information and picture for everyone to see? NO GIRL in their RIGHT MIND. Stay far away from websites like this one and others like it – they are SCAMS!

CHAPTER 4: How to Get a Date and Get Noticed

Believe it or not, there are tons of beautiful women in your area that would LOVE to date you, even if you're not the most attractive guy in the world. You don't have to be funny, attractive, or interesting to land beautiful women all thanks to the world of ONLINE dating. Women are looking for someone that stands out from the other THOUSANDS of other guys messaging them daily, so coming up with something to say that stands out will be key to getting any woman online. So your job is to give women something that TOTALLY stands out and makes an everlasting impression in their mind. Even though you need something that stands out you need to be yourself at all times. Telling the truth is extremely important, especially if you ever want a serious relationship with this new woman.

I mean some small fibs are fine like your 26 instead of 27, but having a different picture and saying your someone who your not is a big no no. Telling the truth will get you a long way in a relationship and will definitely distinguish yourself from the other THOUSANDS of other guys. Girls love guys that are completely honest and upfront. It is hard to find a genuine guy that is free from all lies. Not only do you have to be completely honest with women, you need to come up with things to say that are completely original and unique. In the next chapter we will be setting up your online profile and learning exactly what to say to women to attract them online.

CHAPTER 5: How to Properly Write Your Online Profile

Having an online profile is very important, especially having one that attracts women. There is one important rule for writing a profile that you must know!

The secret? BE ORIGINAL AND CREATIVE

That's right, the more original and creative you are, the better chance you have of a woman considering you the type of guy they may be interested in. Before we get into properly writing a profile, put yourself into a woman's shoes for a second.

Imagine logging into your online account. You have 20 new messages waiting for you to read from all different guys. Each one of the messages starts out with "Hello my name is _____. I really like your profile and want to get to know you better." Let me know if you're interested and want to go out sometime". This is a typical way most guys try to pick up women. I have seen a message like these thousands of times in my lifetime. It is so boring, plain, and just unoriginal. You need to come up with something better than this in order to swoop your potential future date off their feet. Out of all 20 messages sounding the same? Who do you think they are going to choose? That is why half the time you are being ignored. It's not that the woman thinks your ugly; it's just all about how you approach them for the first time. If women see a repetitive message over and over again trying to pick us up, we just completely delete the message and act like nothing was ever sent. Now, it is great for you that women will delete dull, boring, and unoriginal messages because yours will stand out and they WILL read it. It's all about getting noticed and standing out. It's also all about first impressions. They are everlasting and hard to change if it's a not so good first impression. To stand out from other guys I suggest you come up with something extremely original, unique, and humorous.

Here are some examples of BAD messages to say to women when sending them a message for the first time online:

1. Hello, my name is John; I sell water heaters for a living at Home Depot. I really like your profile and I want to get to know you better.
2. Hello, my name is Bob; I really enjoyed your profile and your pictures! Would you be interested in grabbing a bite to eat sometime?
3. Hello, my name is Jason, I currently work at McDonalds. Can I please go out with you sometime?

Here are some examples of a GOOD message to say to women when sending them a message for the first time online. (REMEMBER TO BE ORIGINAL WITH A TOUCH OF HUMOR)!

Subject: I see that you ...

Message: ... visited my profile and didn't even say hello! I know you have more etiquette than that I had some great music on and a nice glass of wine waiting for you. All you had to do was say hi and the chat would have flowed from there! By the way, the dog does not bite, so next time feel free to stop in.

Sincerely,

Mike

Sending a message like this does a few things. First, it's original. Second, it challenges her. It's like you caught her looking at you, and you are calling her out on not being brave enough to message you first. She may not have contacted you first. Trust me; if you say something like this to a woman she will NOT resist the challenge.

Women love to be challenged. Most guys will send an absolutely boring, dull message. This email is so different that women have to respond.

Women want you to be a challenge. They love to look at guys with respect. It is a very emotional situation for them.

Think about it. Do you want to stand out Online . . . or do you want to be just like everybody else? Being like everyone else will land you hardly any women if ANY. By being original just like this example, you can land your next date in no time!

Now about your profile... Here are the steps to writing a profile that will attract women online in no time.

1. Add Clear Photo

The most efficient way to get noticed online, is to include a photo. Choose a clear photo that shows in your best light and if possible smiling! Women love great smiles!

2. Choose a Username that Stands Out

This is the name which you will be known as by members on the dating site. Pick something other than your real name in order to protect your identity and remain anonymous. There are a lot of crazy people on the internet so you never know! Try and choose a name that is fun and reflects your personality.

3. Make Women Want to Read Your Profile

Make your profile stand out and women saying "Wow it was really fun reading that guys profile", I want to get to know him better!

Online dating sites have made it easy for you when completing your profile by providing drop down menus for basic questions such as your appearance, lifestyle, hobbies but you will also be given additional space to write something yourself. Use this space intelligently to provide more detailed descriptions about your personality, your interests and what you are looking for.

The key is to be confident and talk positively about yourself without coming across as being overconfident.

4. Fill Up All Space!

If you feel you have covered everything by answering the profile questions please do not leave the additional space blank or write "ask me", "tell you later" or "I don't know what to say". You need to talk about where you have traveled or where you want to visit. Make sure you really and thoroughly tell almost everything about yourself if you have to.

5. Add Questions to Your Profile

If there is anything that you really enjoy doing such as playing tennis, going to the beach, the movies, etc... ask questions such as "Has anyone seen X movie?" It was amazing! Providing questions for others to reminisce about is a key factor to successfully attracting women online.

6. HONESTY, HONESTY, HONESTY

Don't lie about interests; you will get found out! For example, don't say you love long walks on the beach if you really like to go out and drink with your friends every weekend. You'll attract the wrong person and waste both of your time.

As with any other kind of dating, it is always best to be honest from the start so answer all questions honestly and finding your perfect match will be much easier! Try not to lie about your age, interests, etc... it only cause's problems later if things go more serious than planned.

7. Be Funny!

I think if you can make someone laugh or someone makes you laugh, you're on the path to a good relationship. Show people that you have a sense of humor. Making a women smile goes a long way!

8. Have Goals

Write about something you want to do in your life before you die or something you want to accomplish before you die. It can be extremely far fetched as long as it is really a dream of yours!

9. Ex-Girlfriend!

Do NOT; I repeat, DO NOT mention anything about an ex-girlfriend, ex-wife, etc... on your profile. You need to start fresh with your new woman and it is such a turn off reading about an ex. Please do not have anything on your profile about an EX!

10. State What You're Looking For

If you are looking to just date occasionally or have a serious relationship you need to state it in your profile. If you don't you could find someone and just waste your time and theirs by not knowing what each of your wants.

11. Short But Sweet

No need to tell each woman about your ENTIRE life. Save room for later. You need to tell them a lot but in short sentences broken up. No LONG drawn out paragraphs. A woman will just lose interest quickly and may just click right off your profile!

12. Personal Information

It is great to tell as much information as you can about yourself but this is the internet so being safe is also key. Leave out your home address and cell/work number. Some women can be stalkers and you don't know who you will find on the internet until you meet them and really get to know them.

Using these 12 tips, you will land your next dream girl online in no time!

CHAPTER 6: Importance of Photos

Yes, photos. Photos are EXTREMELY important and deserve its own chapter. Being an attractive guy and learning how to put the right photos online to show your qualities is VERY important.

Many women will ask for a photo upfront right away if you do not have one on your profile. If you don't have one your profile may not even be searched! There is filter options on almost every online dating site that states "search profiles with photos only". By not having a photo you won't show up in a lot of searches and women may not even talk to you. Some women will talk to you but will even ask for a photo upfront!

Even if you're not an attractive looking guy, you need a photo! You could try leaving your photo off, getting to know the woman better without a photo, and than giving it to her later after she is attracted to your personality. Once a woman gets to know you better and loves your personality, looks don't matter as much after that. Whatever you do, please make sure your photo is real and not altered in anyway. When you meet that person in real life and they see your someone that your not, they will quickly walk away in a hurry. This goes back to the whole honesty thing. Just be yourself and be honest. It will GREATLY help!

A word of advice, do not use photos of you partying or drinking! This is bad and will make women feel you are a loser and want to go nowhere in your life. You need to use photos where you look nice and sincere with a smile on your face.

CHAPTER 7: Found Your Date, Now What?

You've found a date finally online and now are just meeting her for the first time! You make eye contact and you are making your way towards her. And while you are doing that, REMEMBER TO BREATHE! Most times when men get excited, their breathing turns shallow and this makes their voice sound a few pitches higher than they want it to, sometimes sounding tense and squeaky! Take some Deep Breaths and remember to breathe! You need to use some great conversation starters, so leave the cheesy pick up lines at home. The best way to start off a conversation with a new woman for the first time is a warm smile and saying "hello". When talking remember not to talk so fast or act nervous and excited. If you are one of the many men out there that get excited when meeting women and talking to them for the first time take deep breathes before continuing talking to her.

Remember to ask open-ended questions...

One of the first things you need to know when talking to a girl is to know what are the right questions to jump start the conversation. Ask the right questions and you'll be rewarded with lots of information. Take it from me. The trick is to know WHAT to ask!

STAY AWAY FROM QUESTIONS THAT GIVE A YES OR NO ANSWER...

Here are some tips you need to keep in mind when asking women questions:

1. Avoid questions that give you a Yes/No Answer. Make sure they are open-ended questions!
2. Avoid questions that are too sexual. Don't ruin your chances on the first date and talking about sex is a NO NO!

3. Do not ask dumb questions. If you have a hunch and feeling it's dumb, don't ask it cause you can't think of anything else to say!
4. Avoid asking questions that make her feel like you are drilling information out of her. That's always not good!
5. Avoid asking tasteless questions

Here are some conversation starters on the first date that will keep her talking all night long!

How was your day?

You look really nice, where did you get (item in question)?

How was work?

Have you seen any movies recently? How did you like it/them?

What kind of music do you listen to?

What sports do you play or like? How long have you played for?

What interesting things did you do this weekend (week)?

Have you ever been to (a local restaurant)?

What kind of foods do you like?

Where are you from?

Where did you go to school/college?

Have you read any good books lately? Was it interesting?

What do you normally do for fun?

Do you like (an interest of yours)?

What's the neatest place you've traveled to?

What's one place you haven't traveled to yet that you really want to go?

You can use these questions when meeting your dream girl for the first time in person or chatting online with AIM, Yahoo Chat, etc... These questions work and are all OPEN-ENDED! Asking OPEN-ENDED questions is a MUST! Also by asking these questions she will want to go out on ANOTHER date with you.

CHAPTER 8: Conclusion

Remember, it doesn't matter what you look like, how much money you have, or how smart you are. It's all about what you say and how you approach women online. If you use the strategies and techniques outlined in this book, there is no reason you can't land a date night after night and find your next dream girl in no time at all.

Being original with a sense of humor goes a long way with women. Being able to put a smile on a woman's face is the most amazing feeling a guy can do for a girl. The simplest things such as I love your hair, your nails, your dress, etc. also help. Noticing the smallest things a woman does will help your chances of landing her in person once you meet her online. Most men do not realize how long it takes a woman to do their hair or make-up. Making simple compliments really helps your chances of going on a 2nd date.

There is no excuse now not to have a date anytime you want. With all the dates you are about to go on, you are bound to find your dream girl in no time at all. Don't pick the first girl you think you are perfect for, date 10 or more and choose out of those 10. Even though you think one may be perfect for you, the next one you go out on a date with will be even better! I hope you enjoyed this book and I wish you the best of luck in finding your dream girl right in the comfort of your own home!
